I don't know, every landlord is not able to provide Section 8 and makes a choice whether to quality their property for Section 8. This is my understanding, Accurate or not. Father and son (KCGarly Section 8. As I understand there has been no negative issues for former or current residents. Pertago someone needs to survey, latk with ask the list of Section 8 landlords what their experiences are, how they manage their business. Some would say the flood destroyed During 15 and the intersecting properties adjacent to what was the bod of Section 8 landlords what their experiences are, how they manage their business. 29	While I now have property rented to a Section 8 tenant I was hesitant in years past to rent to people who may not care for the property adequately, having seen such houses after tenants moved out. In my personal experience, it costs at least $5,000 for a landlord to recover from a bad tenant - both in lost rent and repair costs -which takes many months to recoup. A network / organization to educate & support small landlords would be beneficial. This could teach how to legally and fairly screen for tenants, how to check a property's condition during rental and how to legally and fairly evict a tenant as painlessly as possible. Also what to look for as signs of drug sales or manufacture on the property and what to do about it. What risks landlords face in drug situations (up to property forfeiture).	1/10/2023 11:01 AM

50	Jefferson City HA is not prompt on monthly payments or rent adjustments; thus, landlords are not accepting. Not worth the hassle.	12/20/2022 10:33 AM
51	the landlord that will accept section 8 or other HCVs are getting fewer by the day.	12/20/2022 9:18 AM
52	Far too many to list. The reasons are always the same - NIMBY. Those landlords didn't want "THAT" type of tenant.	12/20/2022 9:09 AM
